Quality of Education and Learning Outcomes of Vulnerable Children in Times of Polycrisis

The COVID-19 pandemic, natural disasters, and international conflicts have endangered people's lives and hindered the delivery of quality education. Consequently, education for peace is valued at an unprecedentedly high level. This year—2023—marks the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) mid-point, and the Japan Education Forum (JEF) for SDGs will provide a space in which these urgent issues may be discussed under the theme of "Quality of Education and Learning Outcomes for Vulnerable Populations." The Forum will consider potential approaches to tackling these problems in Japan and beyond with youth stakeholders, practitioners, academics, and policy officials.
